Goodbye

Cast iron, copper

22" x 22" x 7"

Goodbye is featured in our current and Inaugural Exhibition at Ohio Art League X Space through January 31.

"This piece is part of a long continuum for me, a lineage of strong women ensconced in Victorian culture, which I experienced as a left over culture & through my paternal grandmother and an equally decaying city, Cleveland.

Counterculture/punk also are persistent in my work. Consisting of imbedded flotsam & jetsam in a sort of meltdown and breakdown, Goodbye is one version."

Happy New Year!

2015 has been a big year of change for Ohio Art League from hiring our new director to strengthening our board and building our membership to opening X Space and increasing partnerships with organizations such as 400 West Rich Street Art Studios and the Wexner Center for the Arts. Many of these new changes have happened just within the last few months of 2015. We see it as a promising way to renew as we launch many more exciting developments in 2016.

Thank you for being a part of the journey.

We are pleased to increase Ohio Art League's programming coinciding with offering our members more opportunities and benefits. On December 11, 2015 Ohio Art League and 400 West Rich Street Art Studios launched X Space: a multidisciplinary project and programming space in partnership with Franklinton Arts District at 400 West Rich Street Art Studios. This new space will provide a flexible, experimental space for our members to create projects and programming with the community.

X is a variable- what do you want it to be? Click here to propose exhibitions and programming.

OHIO ART LEAGUE - CALL FOR ENTRIES 2016-17

Ohio Art League X Space Member Curated Exhibitions - Call for proposals

Ohio Art League is now accepting submissions for X Space; a multidisciplinary project and programming space in partnership with Franklinton Arts District at 400 West Rich Street Art Studios.

Ohio Art League members are invited to submit proposals for exhibitions at X Space. Submissions may include solo, group, and concept driven exhibitions. The selected proposals will be exhibited from spring of 2016 through the 2017 exhibition season.

The curator's proposal should demonstrate how their personal vision as well as the artist's ambitions and methodologies will be mediated between the proposed artist's work and its audience. Curators are encouraged to propose exhibitions that respond to our times and to write supporting materials that contextualize artists' work.

The support material should reflect the artists practice but doesn't necessarily have to be the work included in the exhibition.

*All curators and participating artists must be current members of the Ohio Art League.

*No curator or artists having shown through the Member Curated Exhibitions (MCE) program within one calendar year may be part of any new proposal for exhibition in the same position.

*Artists cannot self-curate a Member Curated Exhibition. Artists may not participate as both a curator and as an artist of a solo exhibit within the same calendar year.

*If a proposal is accepted the curator is responsible for coordinating with artists with regards to install and de-install of the exhibition, reception and co-design of exhibition postcard with OAL staff. OAL will assist in marketing efforts.

Submission deadline: February 12, 2016 (midnight)

Ohio Art League X Space - Call for programming

All Ohio Art League members are invited to submit programming proposals. We are seeking programs that help artists grow professionally, showcase the wide range of talent in Ohio, and make art more accessible in the community. Each proposal will be carefully reviewed and chosen by the Ohio Art League Programming Committee and Director. If chosen, members will work directly with the Programming Committee to schedule the event, develop clear goals, and execute the proposed concept.

Examples of programming include but are not limited to: artist talks, classes, critiques, film screenings, meetings, performances, presentations, professional developments, pop-up shows, readings, social mixers, workshops.

Submissions are ongoing.
